Use of cookies

This cookie policy describes the use of cookies on this site.

The owner of the processing of personal data is CheBuoni s.r.l., subject to which the site refers, with headquarters in via Dei della Robbia, 38, Florence (Italy).

What is a cookie?

Cookies are pieces of information that the website places on your navigation device when you visit a page. They may involve the transmission of information between the website and your device, and between the latter and other sites that operate on our behalf or privately, in accordance with the provisions of the respective Privacy Policy. We may use cookies to gather the information we collect about you. You can decide to receive a warning every time a cookie is sent or to disable all cookies by changing your browser settings. By disabling cookies, however, some of our services may not work properly and you will not be able to access many features designed to optimize your browsing experience on the site. For more information on managing or disabling browser cookies, see the last section of this Cookie Policy.

We use various types of cookies with different functions.

We reserve the right to publish a periodically updated table to indicate the types of cookies used and useful references to know the specific purposes of use. Below is a brief description of the main types of technically usable cookies. To provide you with any useful information about cookies and their use, even if only potential, and to know how to change the setting of your browser in relation to the use of cookies, we invite you to read this detailed description.

Session and permanent cookies

Preliminarily we specify that the duration of the installed cookies can be limited to the browsing session or extend for a longer time even after the user has left the visited site. We prefer the use of so-called session cookies (which are not stored permanently on the user's computer and disappear when the browser is closed), which allows the transmission of session identifiers (consisting of random numbers generated by the server) necessary to allow safe browsing and efficient site. The so-called Session cookies used on this site avoid the use of other IT techniques that are potentially detrimental to the confidentiality of users' browsing and do not allow the acquisition of the user's personal identification data.

1. Technical cookies

These cookies are essential to be able to browse the website and use some features. Without strictly necessary cookies, the online services that are normally offered by the site may not be accessible if their provision is based exclusively on cookies of this nature. In fact, cookies of this type allow the user to navigate efficiently between the pages of a website and to use the various options and services offered. They allow, for example, to identify a session, access restricted areas, remember the elements that make up a previously formulated request, complete a purchase order or save a quote.

It is not necessary to provide consent for technical cookies, as they are essential to ensure the required services. It is possible to block or remove technical cookies by changing the configuration of your browser options. However, by carrying out these operations, it is possible that you will not be able to access certain areas of the website or to use some of the services offered.

For more information, please refer to the site's privacy policy.

2. Performance analysis cookies

It is possible that we or service providers acting on our behalf may place performance cookies on your navigation device. The information collected through performance cookies is used exclusively by us or in our interest.

Performance cookies collect anonymous information about how users use the website and its various features. For example, our performance cookies collect information about the pages of the site you visit most often and our advertisements that appear on other websites you interact with, as well as checking if you open and read the communications we send you and if you receive error messages. The information collected can be used to personalize your online experience by showing specific content. Performance cookies are also used to limit the number of views of the same advertisement. Our performance cookies do not collect information of a personal nature.

A link to our Cookie Policy is available via a link on the site. By continuing to use this website and its features, you authorize us (and the external advertisers of this website) to place performance cookies on your navigation device.

To delete or manage performance cookies, consult the last section of this Cookie Policy.

In particular, the site can use Google Analytics which is a Google analysis tool that helps website and app owners to understand how visitors interact with the content they own. A set of cookies can be used to collect information and generate website usage statistics without personal identification of individual visitors by Google. In addition to generating reports on website usage statistics, the Google Analytics pixel tag can be used, together with some of the advertising cookies described above, to allow us to show more relevant results in Google properties (such as Google Search) and across the web.

For further information you can consult this site.

3. Profiling cookies

We reserve the right to use profiling cookies on our part (or the service providers operating on our behalf) to memorize the choices made (language preference, country or other online settings) and to provide customized or optimized features that we assume they may be preferred by the user or to memorize his habits and preferences expressed during navigation. Profiling cookies can be used to offer you online services, to send you advertising that takes into account your interests or to prevent you from being offered services that you have refused in the past.

Furthermore, we inform you that it is technically possible to authorize advertisers or third parties to provide content and other online experiences through this website. In this case, the third party in question could insert their own profiling cookies on your device and use them, in a similar way to us, in order to provide you with customized features and optimize your user experience. By selecting customized options and settings or optimized features based on the preferences expressed by the user, you authorize us to use the profiling cookies necessary to offer you such experiences.

By deleting the profiling cookies, the selected preferences or settings will not be stored for future visits.

The site may use third-party remarketing tools. In this case, some pages of the site may include a code called "remarketing code". This code allows you to read and configure browser cookies in order to determine what type of ad you will see, based on the data relating to your visit to the site, such as the navigation circuit chosen, the pages actually visited or the actions performed at inside of the same.

The remarketing lists thus created are stored in a Google server database where all the cookie IDs associated with each list or category of interests are stored. The information obtained allows only the browser to be identified, since with this information the third party is unable to identify the user.

These tools allow you to publish personalized ads based on user visits to our site.

The authorization for the collection and storage of data can be revoked at any time. The user can disable the use of cookies by Google through the specific setting options of the different browsers.

In particular, these are the main remarketing tools that we could use: Google Adwords & Google Remarketing

Cookies

The website could use the Google Adwords program and Google Remarketing technology. Both are operated by Google Inc .. The AdWords conversion tracking function also uses cookies. To help us keep track of sales and other conversions, a cookie is added to a user's computer when that user clicks on an ad. This cookie lasts 30 days and does not collect or monitor information that can personally identify a user. Users can disable Google conversion tracking cookies in their Internet browser settings. In some cases, cookies can cause problems when logging in or while browsing within your AdWords account. When this occurs, the best way to correct the problem is to clear the cache and delete the cookies saved for your Internet browser. To find out more, click here https://www.google.com / intl / it / policies / privacy /. Finally, the user can disable Google Analytics cookies by downloading a specific browser plug-in available at the following url <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>.
